

What are UM FacChats?

- informal faculty discussion groups

Why participate in UM FacChats?

- to meet with other interested colleagues for an informal discussion of teaching and learning
- to learn and share ideas around a common theme or question in teaching and learning
- to continue to develop professionally as a college teacher and faculty member

When: Monday, March 5, 2018

Time: 2:00 PM to 3:00 PM

Location: Lyceum 200

Topic: Mentoring Graduate Students

CETL's March FacChat is devoted to mentoring graduate students. Dr. Alan Gross (Psychology), Dr. Kelly Wilson (Psychology), and Dr. John Rimoldi (Medicinal Chemistry), all winners of UM's Excellence in Graduate Teaching and Mentoring Award, will lead a discussion on promoting autonomy in graduate students. How can mentors, advisors, and faculty help graduate students move from initial stages of depending on others for information, ideas, etc. to thinking and problem-solving for themselves? If you work with graduate students now or anticipate working with graduate students in the future, please take this opportunity to share your experiences and learn from those of your colleagues. We hope you can join and share ideas over a cup of coffee/tea!

RSVP is not required, however, to help with refreshments, we kindly ask for RSVP.

RSVP Link: UM FacChats